THE PATH OF A BOOK

Final Manuscript

the "official" word for your unpublished story

Thumbnails

once the text is ready, it's time to create small drawings of your book illustrations, similar to storyboarding. Here you pay attention to the flow of the book. Start rough, play BIG and gradually refine to "final thumbnails"

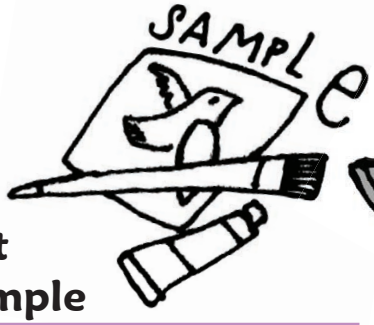

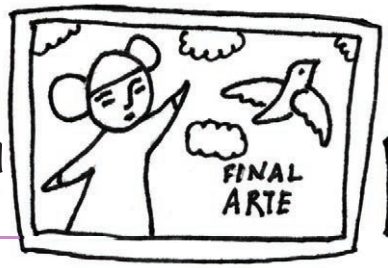

Final Drawings

once the thumbnails are finalized it's time to get bigger and create larger drawings often done at the same size as the book (100%) or even larger, here you finalize ALL the details!

Art Sample

before you head into final art, you'll need to explore your art materials and make some samples

Final Art

then with your final drawings and art samples explorations it's time to create the final art for the book!

Your Finished Book

the final art combines with the final manuscript text in a print-ready file that turns all your work into a physical book!

© Maya Gonzalez | The Heart of It: Creating Children's Books that Matter | www.schoolofthefreemind.com/kidsbooks